St. Thomas of Villanova Chapel. The spires of the chapel have become a symbol of Villanova University.

New Chapter at Villanova

Kappa Alpha Theta has become the fourth women's fraternity to establish a chapter at Villanova University since the 142 year old Catholic school invited national sororities onto the campus two years ago.

Epsilon Xi chapter was installed November 19, 1983 and joined Kappa Kappa Gamma, Alpha Chi Omega, and Delta Delta Delta in establishing a strong Greek system at Villanova.

The University has undergraduate colleges in Arts and Sciences, Engineering, Commerce and Finance, Nursing, and University College. Located in Villanova, PA the 200 acre suburban campus is 12 miles from Philadelphia. The University enrolls around 6,000 undergraduate students and 3,000 graduate students.

Gloriane Curry Browne, Alpha Phi, Newcomb is advisor to the new chapter. Betsy Sierk, resident counselor was assigned to work with the pledge class as a colonizer and remained with the new chapter throughout the school year, living in Villanova.

Members of Epsilon Xi's charter class all come from homes on the east coast, reflecting pretty closely the pattern of enrollment of the University. However, the geographical makeup of the student body is gradually changing and attracting students from throughout the country.

council names AAA chapters

One year after Kappa Alpha Theta launched its Alcohol Awareness Activities program, twenty-three chapters had qualified as AAA chapters. The program was begun to offer encouragement and support to chapters in their efforts to correct alcohol abuse on campus.

Chapters which participate successfully in the plan to decrease the use of alcohol on campus and to educate members who use alcohol, how to use it responsibly have been sent a commendation certificate. Letters of congratulation have also been sent to the CDP and the Greek/Panhellenic advisers on their campuses.

It's a big step that Theta has taken, but we are not alone. Many NPC groups are involved in programs that will help to curb the use of alcohol within their chapters and beyond, as the awareness of the problem and solutions has an out-reach effect on the campus.

To earn recognition as an AAA chapter a checklist of activities was developed in which chapters were to participate. These activities included:

- ✓ two non-alcoholic chapter social functions per semester,
- ✓ one additional non-alcoholic social event with another campus organization per semester,
- ✓ alcohol awareness as part of the pledge and fraternity education programs,
- ✓ chapter participation in a campus seminar on alcohol awareness,
- ✓ pledge night activities without alcohol,
- ✓ chapter dissemination of information from the Kappa Alpha Theta Alcohol Awareness Newsletter (published three times each year).

Advisory board chairmen were asked to certify their chapter's participation in each activity in order to be designated as a "Triple A" chapter for 1983.

BACCHUS

A national college organization to promote caution and responsibility by those who choose to drink.

It seems inconsistent that the ancient Greek god of wine and revelry has been resurrected as a symbol of moderation among college students. Nevertheless the new Bacchus philosophy is catching on in college communities and if put into practice is bound to have a salutary effect on the social life of collegians who are becoming increasingly aware of the dangers of campus drinking patterns.

Delta chapter at Illinois, a leader among Theta chapters in addressing the problems of alcohol abuse is also a leader in this endeavor at the University of Illinois. Delta's approach is centered around education and providing alternatives to drinking at every social occasion.

Delta chapter reports, "Because of the increasing segment of our society having alcohol-related problems, Delta chapter of Kappa Alpha Theta is proud to encourage alcohol awareness among its members. We are one of the first organizations at the University of Illinois to promote responsible drinking habits."

Members are encouraged to learn how alcohol effects the body. For instance they should know that alcohol is a depressant drug, despite all the hype about its characteristics as a stimulant. Unlike other foods, alcohol is not digested but rather absorbed into the bloodstream and contains no nutritional value. Eventually alcohol seeps into all tissues, organs and secretions of the body. Alcohol slows down or "depresses" the functions of the central nervous system. This depression includes that part of the brain centers which usually inhibit aggressive behavior. Even though one may feel stimulated by drinking, alcohol is in fact a "downer." Pure alcohol is burned by the body at the rate of about one-half ounce an hour and there is no quick way to sober up.

Bacchus stands for Booze Alcohol Consciousness Concerning the Health of University Students. Delta chapter has borrowed guidelines from the Bacchus publication, "Tips on Sipping" as part of its educational program. "Responsible Drinking Tips" will help the person who has made the decision to drink, to avoid overindulgence. "How to Detect a Drinking Problem" lists basic warning signals that indicate problems. Another important bit of information for those who do use alcohol is a list of "Factors that Influence the Effects of Alcohol."

Delta chapter seeks to implement Kappa Alpha Theta's program of Alcohol Awareness by demonstrating that a good social event can be held without alcohol being served, and by educating its members on the many facets of the use of alcohol.

Delta program contributed by Kimalee Greene.

Rushing around at Phi

Phi chapter at the University of the Pacific in Stockton, CA is the featured chapter for 1984. Chosen for their traditional rush in rush and a reputation for following prescribed rush procedures, members of Phi produced another quota pledge class in February. Deferred rush is the rule at the University of the Pacific. Sororities return to campus after Christmas break to a five day rush schedule conducted while the University is in session. Advance planning and securing of recommendations during the fall, help to guarantee a smooth and successful rush second semester.

Chapter yardstick is much in evidence in the dining room.

Notebooks containing rush rules, plans and rushee information are passed out.

Members of Phi chapter gather in the living room for a pre-rush workshop.

Practice makes perfect at skit rehearsals.

Rush advisers attend all rush and MS meetings as well as rush parties.

Song practice gets everyone "up" for approaching rush party.

Grand Council has adopted the Special Legacy Policy as the standard for all Theta chapters. The policy is intended to place the legacy at a greater advantage when bids are extended. Previously the policy was granted by special permission of the Director of Membership Selection, only to chapters where the number of legacies going through rush exceeded more than one half of quota. This policy in operation, means that legacies bid by a chapter will have to be placed either on the first bid list or at the top of the second bid list. With this change it is hoped that more legacies will become members of Kappa Alpha Theta.

Happiness is a new pledge class . . . 34 new Thetas at Phi.

New York Times Says Sorority Image "Changing" adapted from an article by Andree Brooks, New York Times Style writer.

The women who gather at alumnae meetings of their sororities this winter will more likely be trading business cards or listening to a lecture on personal investment than reminiscing about college days.

On and off campus, the nation's sororities are becoming career-minded and concentrating on establishing professional networks to help their members enter and advance in their chosen fields.

Andree Brooks, the writer credits this trend for the increase in membership and active alumnae participation, citing a gain of 120,000 college members between 1981-83. Total membership of the 26 National Panhellenic Conference groups is 2.1 million, compared with 1.6 million 20 years ago. Leaders of women's fraternities consider this significant at a time when the general undergraduate population has been declining, said the New York Times writer. In the same period (1981-1983) Kappa Alpha Theta posted a growth in alumnae organization of 21 newly formed clubs and two chapters.

Alumnae chapters are also experiencing increased attendance at regular meetings, particularly when the program is on career planning or assistance.

"Sororities are expanding their horizons," said Mary K. Barbee, recently retired chairman of the National Panhellenic Conference. Development of referral networks that make greater use of the college connection, particularly now that more alumnae have established careers is being introduced in alumnae program planning.

Andree Brooks described the career program of Kappa Kappa Gamma, Choices, which has enrolled 8,000 women in 40 different fields who have offered their services in job placement and career guidance.

Alpha Omicron Pi has published its first national alumnae directory, with cross references to help either student or adult members, reach alumnae already well established in specific fields or locations. Alpha Epsilon Phi has set up a national directory of alumnae willing to help one another.

The Kappa Alpha Theta Alumnae Chapter in New York City was mentioned as a group actively involved in helping Thetas new to the city. "The New York City chapter of Kappa Alpha Theta regularly holds informal after-the-office, early evening gatherings at members' homes to discuss career problems and make business contacts. 'We find it especially helpful when one of our members first arrives in the city,' said Celeste Paprocki, a chapter officer, 'or when they change jobs or start a new venture.'"

Ed note: New York City Thetas have taken advantage of their special situation in providing help, encouragement and of course that most important ingredient, friendship, to all Thetas moving to the city.

CAMPUS SIGHTS AND SOUNDS

Prepared by the Operation Brass Tacks Committee of the National Panhellenic Editors' Conference

By Eileen Rudolph, editor, Delta Delta Delta

TO RAISE MONEY for athletic scholarships, Washington State University's Booster Club asked local farmers to donate wheat to the athletic program. For each bushel donated, they received $4.50 worth of benefits such as tickets to games. The club collected more than 9,000 bushels and expected to net some $30,000 from them. Next year they plan to ask farmers for potatoes and apples.

A SPECIAL COLLECTION at the University of Nevada/Las Vegas contains over 3,000 volumes on gaming (gambling). One volume was published in 1559. The collection also includes histories of gamblers and papers concerning the psychological, sociological, and moral aspects of gambling.

THE UNIVERSITY OF COLORADO developed the first master's degree in telecommunications in 1971. A few other schools have these programs but such education is still scarce and telecommunication managers are in short supply.

THE NEWLY FORMED National Mime Association will establish its headquarters at Davis and Elkins

College and plans to hold its first annual meeting on the West Virginia campus. (Chronicle of Higher Education)

A WORLD RECORD was established by Clemson students when they released 310,000 helium filled balloons at a football game. It took 399 cylinders of helium and 238 miles of string to prepare the balloons.

MEDICAL GRADUATES face a shortage of residency positions at hospitals, says a report in the New England Journal of Medicine. One reason is the rising numbers of foreigners seeking residencies in the U.S.

MIT OFFERS a new degree, Master of Science in Real Estate Development. Tuition for the 12-month program is $14,000. (Wall Street Journal)

THE REGIONAL POISON CENTER at the University of California/Irvine Medical Center is staffed 24 hours a day and receives 25,000 calls a year.

UNIVERSITY OF NEBRASKA researchers measure people's reaction to stress by taking their blood pressure as they play Break Out, a difficult video game. (Wall Street Journal)

SIGMA ALPHA EPSILON members at Northern Arizona University set up a "Nightwatch" after a freshman sorority pledge was raped. Two brothers patrol a quadrangle from 10 p.m. to 2 a.m. Two others patrol from 2 to 6 a.m. This has sparked campus interest resulting in another escort service, better lighting on campus, and increased patrols by local and campus police.

"AIM HIGH"

advisors told at Target School

Advisors intent on the subject at hand are Penny Brockett, RA at Connecticut; Deborah Reinders, RA at Dartmouth; Patricia Forbes, advisory board chairman at Virginia Tech.

Three districts in the Eastern part of the country were targeted for the first training session for chapter advisers. Districts V, VI, and XVII are in areas marked by fraternity growth and the establishment of new Theta chapters. Getting these seven new Theta chapters off on the "right foot" is a fraternity training priority. Of equal benefit was the presence of advisers from long-existing chapters.

The districts attending included the states of New York, Vermont, Connecticut, New Hampshire, and the Province of Quebec all in District V; District VI Pennsylvania and New Jersey; and District XVII in Virginia, Maryland, North Carolina, South Carolina.

The advisers and fraternity officers who served as faculty met on an October weekend last fall at the Flanders Hotel in Ocean City, NJ. They attended at fraternity expense through allocations from the Loyalty in Theta Fund. Scheduling adjustments were made to accommodate advisers who are working, which accounts for a considerable number of Theta's volunteer leaders. The first session began at 8:30 p.m., an unusual starting time but geared to the late arrival of volunteers with working schedules.

"Aiming for Excellence," was the target school's overall theme. "Aim High" the keynote of the opening session dealt with the role of advisers, the relation of advisory boards to other facets of the fraternity, and a lively discussion of fraternity current events. Fraternity officers who guided the discussions and served as re-

Imagine yourself an advisor of a new Theta chapter . . . no traditions no solid operating procedures, perhaps the first women's fraternity on the campus. Or think of yourself in the reverse situation, advising an established chapter . . . it's established but possibly you are not. It's been a long time since you had collegiate contact. In either situation you would probably need help and expert instruction. The first Target School for Advisors introduced a new concept in fraternity and leadership training . . . a model for those to come.

source people were Grand Vice President-College Carol Brehman, Member-at-Large Jane Hedges of the College Committee, and College District Presidents Joyce Ann Vitelli, Lil O'Rourke, Sally Reinhold, Marilyn Huseby, Gwynn Mannes, and Beth Fluharty.

Saturday morning's session "Aim True," expanded on the general functions of advisory boards. Advisory board chairmen met for orientation of college chapter standards, and handling problems in this area, while rush advisers worked on the "external" factors influencing the success of rush such as recommendations, town/area chairman system and panhellenic relations in their session, "Aiming for Selectively."

Sunday morning's two major sessions included a segment, "Ask the Experts," in which leaders answered questions in finance, pledge education, fraternity education, efficiency, scholarship and elections and officer training workshops, followed by a role-play of an advisory board meeting at which a member was disciplined. The school closed with a statement summarizing the reasons for working with Theta collegians and the rewards shared in the Fraternity.

Evaluations have shown that advisers found the school to be valuable both in learning and in sharing, and in boosting morale. Future schools will be planned for various parts of the country. Donors to LITF can be proud to have had a part in this successful fraternity program.

Always on Sunday

*Theta octogenarian softpeddles
her way around Houston*

Father would have been proud. Edward Fuller Cushing raised his seven children to be cyclists. They peddled around Webster Groves, Missouri at the turn of the century like a flying wedge, not attracting much attention unless they commandeered more than their share of the road. Bringing up the rear, until she was replaced in this spot by the 7th and last Cushing offspring was little Kadge. She started her balancing act at age six on a little red two wheeler, a boy's bike, probably handed down.

Now Katherine Cushing Gupton at age 84 is dodging traffic on the streets of Houston, scorning the extra equipment of a bell or horn to alert unsuspecting joggers, walkers and paper persons as she takes to the streets early every morning. Actually, motor traffic is not much of a problem at the time she is doing her weekday 3½ miles. Walkers and joggers are exerting their claim to a share of the city streets at the hour Kadge takes to the road. She is sure about the weekday 3½ mile course because her bike is equipped with a cyclometer which also registers the speed of the Schwinn. In Houston it is always good to know how fast you are going.

Bicycling was a serious business in the Cushing family. Mimi, the mother of the cycling seven had the first chain link bike in St. Louis, equipped with coaster brakes. Before, she rode a bike with a handlebar brake which is now a state of the art feature on today's models. Through thick and thin and nearly a lifetime of biking, Kadge Gupton has remained faithful to the ladies model, single speed bike. Kadge recalls that care of equipment training was part of the privilege of owning your own bike in the Cushing family. The two-wheelers were not equipped with kick stands in those days, and woe be to the Cushing who let his bike clatter to the ground. The front hall of the large Victorian Cushing home held all nine bikes, probably resembling the foyers of some chapter houses with which we are familiar.

Mother and father Cushing rode a tandem on Sunday afternoons in Webster Groves. "Mother was scared to death, but if you were married to my father, you rode a bike."

Kadge Gupton really gets into it on Saturday and Sunday. She becomes more venturesome and goes across "busy streets" extending her distance to five or six miles on her weekend tours. Her Schwinn, which has turned 10,000 miles was a gift from her late husband

Katherine Cushing Gupton, Alpha Iota

Ted Gupton on their 41st anniversary in 1963. Before that she made do with a second hand bike, and before that, when the Guptons lived in Kansas City, she borrowed her daughter Nancy's bike to ride to the beauty parlor.

Kadge Gupton can't think of any hazards in her chosen sport/fitness program. Well, yes, there was the time a big black dog bit her but she doesn't go down that street anymore. One of the pleasures of her early morning rides is seeing everyone come out to pick up his newspaper.

Kadge has a reputation beyond bike-riding among her Houston Theta friends. She is a regular at meetings. "If you belong to something, of course you go to the meetings." She works on the Houston Antiques Show and this year she won a prize for being a top ticket seller. She has served as treasurer of the Houston Alumnae Chapter and that means keeping track of a heap of money. In Kansas City Kadge Gupton was the rec board chairman and alumnae chapter president. A pillar of St. Martin's Episcopal church, Kadge is a member of the altar guild.

Kadge is a member of Alpha Iota chapter at Washington University in St. Louis, where she served as chapter president and president of the freshman and senior classes of the University. Two bike-riding sisters were also members of Alpha Iota, Anne Cushing Chivvis and Fanny Cushing Rhodes. Her daughter Nancy Gupton Aitken, Beta Omega is a former president of the Seattle Alumnae Chapter.

As she turns into her own driveway after her morning ride there is no risky stuff. "Look Pa no hands," would not be in the image of a responsible biker.

Marianne Dickerson, Delta, in the international limelight of marathon running.

Second Best at Twenty-Two

by Kimalee A. Greene, Delta

Marianne Dickerson, Delta Chapter, at the University of Illinois, placed second at the World Track and Field Championships held in Helsinki, Finland, August 1983. What is so unbelievable about this accomplishment is that this race was only the third time Marianne has competed in the punishing 26-mile 358-yard event in all her 22 years.

It is rare for a runner as young as she is to be ranked fourth in the world, Marianne explains. Marathon running usually requires a lot of maturity on the part of the runner and a typical age is in the late 20's to early 30's. For example, Norway's Greta Waitz, the number one marathon runner in the world is 29 years old. "Being six to seven years younger than the best in the world is real encouraging," said Marianne. "Distance people are like wine. The older they get, the better they get," said Mike Shine, the women's head track coach at the University of Illinois in Urbana-Champaign. Being ranked fourth in the world at age 22, he also agrees, is "pretty unique."

But how did Marianne become a world-class athlete? As a freshman at St. Joseph/Ogden high school not far from the UI campus, Marianne began running. "I was really athletic," she said. Marianne played basketball, and softball, but she had the most success in track. In her early days she would run for three months, then hang up her running shoes. But as her performance improved, Marianne got more serious. In her junior year she started working out with the boy's cross country team. Although she was in no way a standout yet, she did run in the very first Class A finals for track and field in 1978. In that state event, she placed first in the 880-yard run and second in the mile race—nowhere near the distance of the grueling marathon she would later master.

When it came time for college, Marianne wanted to go away from home. So off she went to the University of Michigan. Not until she arrived there did she realize they did not have a cross country team, and she had no other runners to train with. "I got so darn homesick," she said, and after a year at Michigan, she came back to Illinois. It was at the University of Illinois her running skills excelled. Marianne holds several university records. Among them are the indoor 2-mile, 3-mile and the 5,000 meter as well as the outdoor 10,000 meter.

Some of her achievements at Illinois include being voted most valuable player for four years and being the U. of I's first woman All-American in cross country. This honor is bestowed upon the best 25 performances at the NCAA meet, and the athletes must be American citizens. In 1982 she was also an All-American in track. This exclusive group of athletes consists of the top six finalists at the NCAA meet.

Excellence in scholarship

Despite all the time she spent on running, Marianne was able to keep her cumulative grade point average (GPA) at 4.48 in the general engineering curriculum. She was a member of Tau Beta Pi and Gamma Epsilon, both engineering honoraries. She was also a homecoming queen candidate in 1982.

After graduation in December 1982, Marianne chose Purdue for graduate work in Engineering because it was close to home and the least expensive of the other prestigious schools in which she had been accepted. The university waived her tuition and gave her a teaching assistantship. During her year at Purdue she earned a 4.75 GPA.

Marianne entered her first marathon in the summer of 1982, which was the Grandma's Marathon in Duluth. After this race she had blood-filled blisters all over both feet. That marathon was an "awful experience," according to Marianne, but it gave her a better appreciation of what it takes to run a marathon. So far these blisters have been her only injury encountered while running the marathon, and she blames them on a new pair of shoes.

In June 1983, Marianne ran in her second marathon, the Avon International in Los Angeles. In that race, she placed third with a time of 2:33:44, which earned her the right to compete on the United States team at the World Track and Field Championships in Helsinki, Finland.

So it was off to Helsinki in August. This was the first time the World Track and Field Championship was held, and 159 countries participated in the event. Like the Olympics, this new event will be held every four years; however, it will precede the Olympics by one year. Its purpose is to highlight just track and field events. For the first time the 1984 Olympics will include the marathon for women and Marianne hopes to be a participant.

In the championship race in Helsinki, Marianne had been running third for quite some time, but she entered the stadium within three seconds of Raisa Smekhnova, the Soviet runner. "Everyone makes such a big deal about a USSR/USA duel," Marianne said. "It was a storybook setup, and it probably won't ever happen again." Rarely do two runners enter the stadium or even run on the track together in a marathon," she said.

"They always say adrenalin can do funny things. But I found myself in front of 50,000 screaming people and it finally hit me. There I was after running 26 miles and I didn't feel any pain." Here she was the little girl from a town of 1,900 running in only her third marathon, and she outkicked the Soviet runner in the last 100 meters of the marathon to take second place IN THE WORLD. Her time was her personal best and it allowed her to bring home the silver medal.

After the Helsinki race, Marianne became a definite possibility for the Olympics. Now she is spending most of her time preparing for the Olympic trials to be held in Olympia, Washington in mid-May 1984.

Competition in the U.S. is very keen, and the U.S. can send only its top three runners to the Olympics. Currently Marianne is ranked third in the U.S. and fourth in the world. But the U.S. team is so strong it could place first, second and third at the Olympics, according to Marianne.

After the Avon race, Marianne knew she needed to find a coach. At Purdue she basically trained herself. Now she needed someone to give her more guidance, and she needed to be near other talented runners who would provide her with the competition she needed to improve. Marianne chose John Goodridge to be her new coach. Goodridge coached women's distance events up until 1982 at Michigan State. Now he works primarily with individual runners like Marianne. She admires him "because he recognized my talent when no one else did." So once again Marianne headed back to the University of Michigan, this time to finish her graduate work in industrial engineering.

Marianne's training schedule includes running twice a day and she usually averages 10 miles a day. However, on Thursdays she increases her distance to 15-16 miles. On Sundays she typically runs 22 miles. Besides piling up all that mileage, she is working out on the track more because she considers speed to be one of her present weaknesses.

To some marathon runners the cash rewards and other benefits are attractive. "I'm not concerned about the money," Marianne said. "When you start getting greedy, that's when you start getting hurt." She thinks she will be able to make a living at running the next couple of years. She knows she could make more money now by competing in a greater number of marathons; however, she is concentrating on just the Olympics trials.

Although Marianne is only a mere 22 years old and she has a great chance of making the 1984 Olympic team, she knows she must take things one step at a time. Even though this year's Olympics are her primary goal right now, she thinks her best shot at a medal is in 1988, when her body, like wine, has matured.
